N/A, Bronxville, NY

Designed by renowned Bronxville architect William Bates in 1912, 16 Ridge Road is a timeless Tudor nestled in one of Bronxville Village's most sought-after locations—a five minute stroll to train, schools, and Village center. Situated on a wider, tree-lined street, this home boasts graciously proportioned rooms, high ceilings, hardwood floors and original diamond-shaped leaded glass windows, preserving its classic Tudor character. The layout is ideal for entertaining, with a seamless flow from the grand foyer to the living room with a wood-burning fireplace, a sun-drenched double sunroom, and an elegant dining room with its own fireplace. The butler's pantry leads to an eat-in kitchen, creating both functionality and charm. French doors from the sunroom open to an expansive private terrace overlooking the upper and lower gardens—a serene and picturesque setting.

The second level features two primary bedroom suites, one with a fireplace, both opening to private terraces—one covered, the other open-air—offering a peaceful retreat. Two additional bedrooms complete this level. The third floor offers an additional two bedrooms and a full bathroom plus potential for a cozy home office or additional storage. The lower level includes a cozy family room, ample storage, and utilities.

Set on a beautifully landscaped, level yard, the property offers privacy and over 300 Sq. Ft. of multiple charming outdoor spaces including terraces and gardens. There’s potential to add a pool, and a circular driveway, the oversized two-car garage and mudroom entrance provide convenience. Located just 25 minutes from Midtown Manhattan, this exceptional home offers the perfect blend of historic charm and modern livability.
